Dec 2003

ATCM 2003: 15-19 Dec, Taiwan. The 8th Asian Technology Conference in Mathematics. The conference will cover a broad range of topics on the relevance of technology in mathematical research and teaching.

Jan 2004

Day Break Course – Undergraduate Mathematics Teaching and Research Frontiers: 28 Jan, University of Birmingham. The LTSN Maths, Stats & OR Network presents a one-day workshop led by John Blake.

Engineering Mathematics Examples/Case Studies Swap-Shop: 29 Jan, Loughborough University. The HELM project is collecting engineering examples and case studies. You are invited to share your own examples and take away examples from others – these could be short mathematical problems set in an engineering context, exemplars of mathematics problems in engineering, fully developed engineering mathematics modelling problems or relevant CAL segments.

HELM Triallists' Workshop: 30 Jan, Loughborough University. Potential triallists are invited to try the HELM mathematics learning resources in the form of Workbooks and web-delivered CAL segments.

Feb 2004

Day Break course – Service Teaching Principles, Practice and Politics: Teaching Statistics to Non-mathematicians. 14 Feb, Coventry University. The LTSN Maths, Stats & OR Network presents a one-day workshop where expertise will be shared in teaching statistics as a service course, led by Neville Hunt and Sidney Tyrrell.

Mar 2004

ORS Simulation Conference: 23-24 Mar, Birmingham. An opportunity to exchange ideas on the current and future state-of-the-art in simulation modelling, with a particular focus on discrete-event simulation.
